

VOL. XIX, NO. 52.

DALLAS, DALLAS COUNTY, TEXAS, SEPTEMBER 7, 1872.

WHOLE NUMBER 987.

BANKERS.

GASTON, CAMP & THOMAS.

BANKERS.

DEALERS IN EXCHANGE.

AND GENERAL AGENTS.

Dallas, Mar. 9, 1872-2001.

S. J. ADAMS, J. L. LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

ADAMS & LEONARD.

BANKERS.

DALLAS, TEXAS.

DALLAS HERALD.

ROBERT JOSSELYN, Editor.

MORE PROGRESS.

Another move in the wrong direction is being made at the North, where all the new changes in everything, manners, morals and politics, originate. The Turf, Field and Farm (which by the way has become an excellent paper of the kind) contains a well written article in favor of the abolition of side-saddles, and the riding of women, like men, on horseback.

We understand, also, that Scribner's

Monthly Magazine, which we have not seen, advocates the same change. This, in a considered one of the best of the Northern Mouthpieces. It appears, from the article in the Turf, Field and Farm, that side-saddles have been in use for hundreds of years, and the writer admits that it may be very difficult to bring about the desired reform. We trust it will be,

and that the attempt will be a failure, as much more so than the Bloomer movement.

It will be understood, at once, that this change in the mode of riding for women involves, of course, a change in dress.

If they ride like men, astraddle, they must be dressed like men with pantaloons or breeches. And when this becomes the common dress for riding, it will soon be the common dress for walking and for all ordinary uses. The tendency to assimilate men and women in occupations, habits, manners and general appearance has been exhibited in the Northern portions of this country for some years, and seems to be gaining ground, until we find papers of the first respectability giving way to this unnatural and unnecessary division. God has made a great distinction between men and women and the effort

to counteract His determination and to make them as much alike as possible

must prove a failure in the end. As the sexes are marked by nature with unchange-

able differences, physical and mental, if

not moral, there should be a marked

distinction in dress and occupations. We do not undervalue the female sex, but they are very unlike men, thank Heaven, and

the more they are made to act like men

and look like them, the less we care about

them, and, if they did not know it, the worse it will be for them. At the same time, God has made a great distinction

between men and women and the effort

to counteract His determination and to

make them as much alike as possible

must prove a failure in the end. As the

sexes are marked by nature with unchange-

able differences, physical and mental, if

not moral, there should be a marked

distinction in dress and occupations. We do not undervalue the female sex, but they

are very unlike men, thank Heaven, and

the more they are made to act like men

and look like them, the less we care about

them, and, if they did not know it, the

worse it will be for them. At the same

time, God has made a great distinction

between men and women and the effort

to counteract His determination and to make them as much alike as possible

must prove a failure in the end. As the

sexes are marked by nature with unchange-

able differences, physical and mental, if

not moral, there should be a marked

distinction in dress and occupations. We do not undervalue the female sex, but they

are very unlike men, thank Heaven, and

the more they are made to act like men

and look like them, the less we care about

them, and, if they did not know it, the

worse it will be for them. At the same

Love Memories.

By Frank Buckland.

As, I, it was here that we were in the still of that sweet June night.

Till the lake was still, and the clouds east

Was dimmed with a gray light.

A willow leaf was on the water's edge

To his mate out of the willow boughs that slept

In the nest on the building spire.

It was at my grandfather's wedding, I

That I think of it with love.

</